

General Business Transfer

Unable to load contents of IFRAME at this location in the original document. See original HTML document and notify an administrator.

The study of general business involves learning about all aspects of overseeing and managing a business in the public and private sectors. The General Business Transfer Pathway aligns to the first two years of a bachelor's degree in many business related fields, including accounting, entrepreneurship, finance, general business, healthcare administration, international business, management, management information systems, marketing, and supply chain management.

Students should work with their advisors to tailor course selections to align with the chosen transfer university. The transfer plans on this page show tailored examples for universities commonly chosen by Lee College students. However, students may choose to continue their education at any university.

What Will I Learn?

Students learn basic skills to manage businesses, including processes, systems, standards, and technology. These skills may be used to acquire entry-level jobs in a broad range of fields and prepare students to continue to bachelor degree programs.
